A +1.5 spread is commonly seen in baseball betting, the standard runline for MLB. This split means the underdog must win outright or lose by exactly one run to profit. Alternative: a parlay 1.5 spread means that an underdog must win by at least two runs. Many baseball gamblers have decided on fewer (than two runs). What is a spread? In sports betting, a spread is a handicap that levels the playing field. For example, if the favorite is -1.5, they must win by more than 1.5 runs to cover. The underdog is +1.5, meaning they can lose by up to 1.5 runs and still cover. The total winnings payable to any individual player are based on the type of bet. On a single event, you can place multiple bets which include a maximum of $1 million (Maximum Tj T*).
