Jogo do Bicho, which translates to "The Animal Game," is an illegal gambling game in Brazil. It was created in 1892 by Baron Joo Batista Viana Drummond, and it involves betting on a set of animals, such as horses, dogs, and cats. The game is played on a set of numbers from 0000 to 9999, and the winning numbers are drawn daily. The game is popular in Brazil and is considered a form of gambling. It is often played in small, informal settings, and the stakes can be high. The game is also known as "Jogo do Bicho" and is a common form of gambling in Brazil.
