

freeroll pokerstars hoje

Explanation of Heads up

There are two different scenarios where we will find ourselves

 playing heads up poker.

1. We are playing a heads up cash game. Either we are deliberately choosing to play 2-handed, or we are playing a ring-game where the other players have either left or haven't joined yet.

2. We have reached the final table of a tournament and there are only two players left.

Note that a hand may often be described as heads up even if multiple players were dealt into the hand. This might occur when only 2 players see the flop after all other players fold or eflop. We saw a flop heads up after open-raising preflop and getting one cold-caller.

Example of Heads Up used in a sentence - It's often said that heads up cash games require more skill than short

handed or full ring cash games.

How to Use Heads up as Part of Your Poker Strategy

While many professional cash game players choose to play six-max or full-ring variants, a subset of professional cash players make most of their money playing heads up games. It's generally believed that expert heads up cash game players have the potential to make more money than six-max and full-ring players. This is due to the ability to direct all of one's volume specifically towards playing weaker opposition.

Ring-game players will often be dealing with a mixture of skilled and non-skilled opponents whereas if a heads-up player decides his opponent is overly skilled he has the ability to walk away from the game and select new opposition.

Exact strategy adjustments for playing heads up will depend on the poker variant, but here are some general guidelines.

1. Preflop ranges will typically be looser when playing heads up.

While a ring game player might often elect to play 20-25% of his holdings, a heads up player will usually enter the pot with closer to 60-70% of starting hands.

2. Postflop play will be more aggressive when playing heads up. In a ring game, a player's range is often wider and they are more likely to be in a difficult position. In heads up, a player's range is narrower and they are more likely to be in a strong position.

3. Bluffing will be more effective when playing heads up. In a ring game, a player's range is often wider and they are more likely to be in a difficult position. In heads up, a player's range is narrower and they are more likely to be in a strong position.

4. Betting sizes will be larger when playing heads up. In a ring game, a player's range is often wider and they are more likely to be in a difficult position. In heads up, a player's range is narrower and they are more likely to be in a strong position.

5. Flop play will be more aggressive when playing heads up. In a ring game, a player's range is often wider and they are more likely to be in a difficult position. In heads up, a player's range is narrower and they are more likely to be in a strong position.

6. Turn play will be more aggressive when playing heads up. In a ring game, a player's range is often wider and they are more likely to be in a difficult position. In heads up, a player's range is narrower and they are more likely to be in a strong position.

7. River play will be more aggressive when playing heads up. In a ring game, a player's range is often wider and they are more likely to be in a difficult position. In heads up, a player's range is narrower and they are more likely to be in a strong position.

8. Bluffing will be more effective when playing heads up. In a ring game, a player's range is often wider and they are more likely to be in a difficult position. In heads up, a player's range is narrower and they are more likely to be in a strong position.

9. Betting sizes will be larger when playing heads up. In a ring game, a player's range is often wider and they are more likely to be in a difficult position. In heads up, a player's range is narrower and they are more likely to be in a strong position.

10. Flop play will be more aggressive when playing heads up. In a ring game, a player's range is often wider and they are more likely to be in a difficult position. In heads up, a player's range is narrower and they are more likely to be in a strong position.

11. Turn play will be more aggressive when playing heads up. In a ring game, a player's range is often wider and they are more likely to be in a difficult position. In heads up, a player's range is narrower and they are more likely to be in a strong position.

12. River play will be more aggressive when playing heads up. In a ring game, a player's range is often wider and they are more likely to be in a difficult position. In heads up, a player's range is narrower and they are more likely to be in a strong position.

Exact strategy adjustments for playing heads up will depend on the poker variant, but here are some general guidelines.

1. Preflop ranges will typically be looser when playing heads up. While a ring game player might often elect to play 20-25% of his holdings, a heads up player will usually enter the pot with closer to 60-70% of starting hands.

2. Postflop play will be more aggressive when playing heads up. In a ring game, a player's range is often wider and they are more likely to be in a difficult position. In heads up, a player's range is narrower and they are more likely to be in a strong position.

3. Bluffing will be more effective when playing heads up. In a ring game, a player's range is often wider and they are more likely to be in a difficult position. In heads up, a player's range is narrower and they are more likely to be in a strong position.

4. Betting sizes will be larger when playing heads up. In a ring game, a player's range is often wider and they are more likely to be in a difficult position. In heads up, a player's range is narrower and they are more likely to be in a strong position.

5. Flop play will be more aggressive when playing heads up. In a ring game, a player's range is often wider and they are more likely to be in a difficult position. In heads up, a player's range is narrower and they are more likely to be in a strong position.

6. Turn play will be more aggressive when playing heads up. In a ring game, a player's range is often wider and they are more likely to be in a difficult position. In heads up, a player's range is narrower and they are more likely to be in a strong position.